

Just a Little
This & That
By W. E. W.

Dear Bill,—Your indispensable news sheet of Sept. 5 arrived at my residence, San Antonio Ave. and 21st Street, by U. S. mail, R.D. (Retarded Delivery), Sept. 6. Saturday night obligations were postponed while we delved deep into the revelations of our mutual friend, Mr. John D. Howe, on the troubles of the lemon grower. Now, I have long regarded John D. as an "institution," rather than an individual. Henceforth he is both, and an astute lad at that. If he can't raise lemons for less than $1.00 per field box, he will have to quit. A clear case of the survival of the fittest.

Now, after this preamble, we suggest a short symposium of growers on the situation. From our standpoint, we see the exchange in the course of thirty years' operations (in the face of bitter competition by entrenched interests) have secured the marketing of 95 per cent of the lemon crop. Could this have been done under monopolistic methods? The failure of the California Fruit Agency in 1904 is the answer. Will the growers countenance in their organization any other governing principle than the will of the majority in just proportion to shipments made? As citizens, we must operate in full compliance with the laws of the United States concerning interstate commerce, and our officials would rather live in California than languish in a Federal prison for our sakes.

We take it, these are the reasons for that clause in the contract between the District Exchange and the California Fruit Growers Exchange, whereby "the shipper reserves to itself the right to regulate and control its own shipments, to use its own judgment, and decide for itself when and in what amounts it shall ship; where its products shall be sold, and, except at auction points, the price it is willing to receive. Fully reserving the right of free competition with all other shippers, including other members of this organization, unhampered and uncontrolled by any one."

There is nothing in this contract that Mr. Howe attacks as the principal cause of our troubles that can prevent the shippers from using at all times their own judgment and in times of heavy supply and light demand by mutual agreement to so regulate shipments that the grower will receive a fair return for his labor and investment. Our conclusion of the whole matter is, that with such a perishable product as the lemon, subject to violent fluctuations in price overnight, due to wide ranges in temperature over this broad country of ours, we can never expect to be always "Johnny on the Spot." Our own Lemon Growers Association this year, with a well-thought-out scheme, with 54 cars of our best keeping fruit stored in Chicago for the expected rise, failed because Old Sol did not get there on schedule time. So we see, "the best laid schemes of mice and men gang af a-gley."

Our white hope lies in less destructive competition between co-operatives; 2, keeping undesirable grades off the market; 3, loyalty to our associations and connections.

The Exchange should not be looked upon as an ogre that has grown up and fattened on the industry, but rather the creation of our own minds, the growth of the years, not perfect but yet obsolete, responsive to the membership touch and the changing times, on the whole the most successful example of co-operative marketing America has yet seen.

Yours truly,
Geo. G. Laidlaw

CONSOLIDATION OF
WATER COMPANIES
IS CONSIDEREDTO REDUCE OVERHEAD IS
PLAN OF DIRECTORS

To Combine in Development of
More Water. Stockholders
Have Talked Consolidation for Years.

Stockholders of four local water companies, meeting on Friday night in the Upland Public Library basement, were enthusiastic over a proposal to consolidate, and urged that immediate steps be taken to bring about the merger.

The companies to be affected are the Mountain View Water Company, the Canyon Ridge Water Company, the Upland Water Company and the Limited Mutual Water Company.

The meeting was called to order by William Springer, president of the Upland Water Company and a director in the Mountain View, after which officers were elected for the meeting.

J. B. Leaman, president of the Canyon Ridge Water Company, was chosen chairman of the meeting, and David Bradford, secretary of the Mountain View Water Company, was named secretary.

Mr. Leaman gave an outline of the purpose of the meeting, telling of the advantages and cutting of expenses which would result from consolidation.

After he had presented the outline, the individual stockholders were asked to express their opinions concerning the plan. They all declared themselves to be heartily in favor of the idea, and a unanimous vote was taken urging that the consolidation be effected if possible.

H. C. Warren, president and general manager of the Glendora Mutual Water Company, was present by request, and spoke concerning his experience in consolidation. He talked highly in favor of the plan, as did also O. S. Roen, Ontario city service manager.

Mr. Warren, Mr. Roen and Attorney Ralph Swing of San Bernardino were named as a committee to formulate plans whereby the consolidation could be brought about satisfactorily to all concerned.

Mr. Hayward, president of the Limited Mutual; E. R. Alter, president of the Mountain View; William Springer, president of the Upland Water Company, and J. B. Leaman, president and general manager of the Mountain View, were named as an advisory committee.

Another meeting will be held at the same place on October 10 at 7:30 o'clock, at which time the committee will report.

It is said that the consolidation will lessen the expenses to the growers considerably, by placing the management under one head, by lowering the overhead, and by the voting of a bond issue to cover the indebtedness of the companies, thus saving materially on interest.

It is planned to call the new company the Mountain View Consolidated Mutual Water Company.

The four companies now serve approximately 2,000 acres, including everything in the old Mountain View tract. The territory served includes everything west of Mountain Avenue below Thirtieth Street, and the Nimesha tract as far south as Holt Avenue. It also covers the territory south to Ninth Street for some distance east of Mountain Avenue.

The lines of the four companies are all interwoven at the present time, it is said, and many growers have shares in two or more of the companies.

After the consolidation, the new company will have one of the best pipeline systems in the country, it is said.

More than 100 stockholders were at Friday night's meeting.

City Engineer R. G. Manley states that he will be glad to receive applications for the position of stenographer and bookkeeper in the Upland City Water department, which will be rendered vacant on November 1, when Miss Betty Kleiber resigns her position to return to her Minnesota home. Mr. Manley would like to have his new assistant at least two weeks before Miss Kleiber goes, so that she may become familiarized with the details of the office work.

of the Days Gone By. John Mitchell Represents Ontario.

An organization known as the Pioneer Society of Pomona Valley is destined to become one of the famous organizations of this section, for as the years roll by many an interesting meeting will be held. At a picnic the other day pioneers told of the coming of the railroads through this section and of how each town erected a hotel to care for the tourists. At Spadra, at Claremont, at La Verne, then known as Lordsburg, at Upland, then known as North Ontario, together with many other towns, these hotels were built, but since those days have either been torn down or are now being used for other purposes.

"The Rubottom Hotel" at Spadra, the "Magnolia Villa" here, a hotel building in which the present Pomona College at Claremont was formed, as well as the present location of the David and Margaret Home at La Verne, are all buildings of those boom days. J. J. Atwood of Upland and John Mitchell of Ontario are vice-presidents of the Pioneer Society, each representing their particular district.

"King Tut's Carriage," sixteen year old was not to be outdone Saturday by any modern contrivance and evidently took the early start for Camp Baldy Saturday afternoon as an insult added to injury.

As the little Reo is sixteen years old and has but one cylinder, it was thought best to start the little car up the grades early that there might be plenty of time for repairs, delays, etc., as it was desired to hold a parade at 4 o'clock from below Camp Baldy.

But the little car surprised even her owner Lyman Clark by negotiating the entire distance without a stop and doing it all in one hour and twenty-five minutes. In fact the little car arrived at Camp Baldy long before it was expected and had to go back in order that the parade might be held as scheduled.

In the parade were Sheriff Shay of San Bernardino county, Under Sheriff Biscailuz of Los Angeles County, Pioneer John Brown, Mr. Allison famous miner of the Allison mines above Camp Baldy and many other famous personages of this county and Southern California.

With all the honor and pomp allotted to other famous institutions the car made its entry and following the parade numerous speeches were made among those speaking were: John Brown of San Bernardino; Mr. Daniels, a Welshman gave an excellent talk on pioneer days and patriotism; Sheriff Shay of San Bernardino; Under Sheriff Biscailuz of Los Angeles.

WATERMAN GARAGE
SOLD TO ROBERT
M. LLOY & SONDECIDED UPLAND HIS
IDEAL FOR LOCATION

Visits Many Southern California Towns Before Locating. Formerly in Garage Business at Medford, Mass.

A deal was closed Saturday by which Robert Lloy becomes owner of the Waterman Garage on Euclid Avenue.

For several months W. L. Waterman has been considering taking a long needed rest, and although he did not expect to dispose of his business until spring, he closed negotiations Saturday for the sale of the business.

Mr. Lloy has followed the garage business, both storage and repair, for many years at Medford, Mass., where from a small beginning when automobiles were first manufactured, he built a garage and storage plant which not only stored 150 cars, but had a large repair department as well.

For the past two years Mr. Lloy has operated the West Chester Garage on Pico Street, Los Angeles, but city life did not appeal to himself and family as they desired to locate in a smaller town. After looking over many businesses in Southern California towns, he determined to locate in Upland.

Associated in the business will be Arthur R. Lloy, a son, and within a few days the families of the two men will arrive. Robert Lloy has leased the Waterman home at 2117 Euclid Avenue, and Arthur Lloy has leased a home at 648 Euclid Avenue from Mrs. Leavenworth Wheeler.

Mr. and Mrs. Waterman will be greatly missed from business circles of the city, where they have a host of friends. After several months of travel and rest they plan on locating again in business.

the gong rang for the second round to the close of the fourth was all man and no bear.

Barbecue a Surprise

The next event was a surprise to many for men of the mountain town and connected with various industries staged a barbecue with Chef Martinez of Ontario doing the honors. Barbecued steaks with all the trimmings were served in out door style and along with the hosts many guests assisted in serving the 275 attending the dinner. The hosts were T. K. Vernon of the Bear Canyon Store, Geo. Russell of Russell's Camp, Herbert McCullough of the Camp Baldy Co., Ranger Arthur Shay and men of the Forest Service.

Following the dinner orators were introduced, T. K. Vernon acting as toastmaster. Those making brief talks were John Brown, Jr., Mr. Daniels, Sheriff Shay, Under Sheriff Biscailuz, Supervisor Cogswell, Mr. Bryan, Mrs. T. K. Vernon, Mrs. R. C. Norton, Mrs. J. W. Heinicke, Mrs. Boon and Rev. Galloway.

Following the dinner a dance orchestra provided music and everyone in the village who cared to, enjoyed a delightful evening dancing.

SOUTHERN CITIES
ON PROBATION
REGARDS JUICEBAD SITUATION PARTLY
RELIEVED BY CO-OPERATION

Extravagance in the Use of Electricity to Be Avoided.
Power Companies Prove Equal to Conditions.

Cities and towns of Southern California are to be put on probation by Power Supervisor H. G. Butler, according to word received yesterday in Upland.

A new order has been issued by that official permitting a resumption of the wanted outdoor lighting for business houses, but it has "a string on it." It is based upon the power supervisor's belief that this relaxation will not be abused, for the need of conservation is not past. If extravagance or waste of "juice" results, it will be necessary to withdraw the privilege now granted.

Restrictions are not removed, said the power supervisor, on present schedules of street lighting, on power consumption, or on domestic lighting. The order prohibiting the power companies from taking on new burdens until the shortage is over is not revoked. The present order merely extends to the use of light for strictly business purposes.

It is made possible because, up to the present time, the communities involved have given such hearty, public-spirited support to the power-saving program by keeping within the quotas assigned to them that the situation is well in hand, and there is no further necessity of imposing loss on business. There is now sufficient supply of juice in sight to permit this exception to run until new steam-plant construction is completed in November to overcome the deficiency caused by the drop in hydro-power.

"I wish to warn the public," said Mr. Butler, "that there are two contingencies under which the bars might have to be put up again. One is any reaction to the order of today that should lead to extravagance in the use of lighting current. The other is that some disaster might happen to one of the large steam plants. That would set us back right where we were in June, and the most rigid restriction would have to be imposed."

"This is the beginning of the end of the emergency which put me in charge of what threatened to be a bad situation, but it is not yet the end, and I hope everybody will realize that. We have managed so that agriculture and manufacturing industries have suffered a minimum of loss, and with good luck we shall come out of the emergency with no one very much harmed, and with a fine example of California resource and team spirit having been given to the world."

"With enterprises now under way that will soon greatly increase our supply of power, it looks as if we shall never again have a shortage requiring a repetition of this summer's rules."

The largest map in the world is being made in San Francisco. It is 600 feet long and eighteen feet wide, and shows all the natural as well as man-made features of California.

PARADE TO FORM
ON SECOND AVE.
12:30 FRIDAYCHAIRMAN ATWOOD INVITES ALL TO JOIN IN PARADE

Excellent Program to be Presented During the Afternoon and Evening at Chaffey Union High School Grounds.

Under the direction of Chairman Glenn M. Atwood appointed by Mayor A. H. Johnson preparations for the Defense Day parade are going steadily forward and present indications are that Upland will present an excellent showing.

Many floats and decorated automobiles as well as machines occupied by citizens will be lined up on Second avenue at 12:30 Friday noon, ready to proceed to Chaffey Union High School where the Upland division will join the other divisions from other towns and proceed on the parade as planned.

Regarding the plans for the day R. D. Newton who is general chairman of the day for the West End of the county stated:

"This day as we are to observe it, must not in any manner be construed as a 'rattling of the saber' or a hostile gesture." On the contrary it is in harmony with all movements for world peace and is expressly designed to aid in assuring world peace to a considerable portion of the world, at least. It is not in conflict with the principles of The Hague tribunal, the league of nations, the world court or any other peace plan. There will be no display of armament for we have no armament to display.

"The legions of Ontario and Upland will conduct a 'defense test' throughout the week, and it is a movement in the direction of peace and aims in every sense of the word to prevent war."

"We of the Defense Day committee ask you in all sincerity to give over the afternoon and evening of September 12 to the observance of this day. We ask you—the families of Upland, Chino and Ontario—to meet for the purpose of making this a great day of community co-operation, good will and thankfulness."

REGISTER EARLY--

The right sort of an education is one of the vital needs of the men and women of tomorrow. During the next two weeks the young men and women of the Chaffey Union High School and Junior College district will be enrolling for another year. It is important for all to register early and to register for the right subjects.

While all students who graduate have to take certain courses, it is not best for all students to take the same subjects. The Chaffey courses are adopted to all the needs of all the students. To know what subjects students should take is very important. The key to this is the actual use students will make of the subjects. Subjects never to be used again should not be taken, for it is a waste of time for students to spend a year on something to be neglected thereafter.

Experience shows that over half of the Freshmen entering high school will graduate, and that three-fourths of those graduating will go on to college. The special need for these students is a sufficient foundation for college work. All students going to college should have completed with recommended grades a course that will include the following with some variations to meet particular college matriculation requirements:

English—3-4 years
Mathematics—2-4 years
Science—2-4 years
Foreign Languages—4 years
History—2-4 years
Students who neglect these subjects will be handicapped upon entering college.

Students who do not care to continue after high school should take courses that will be of occupational value. Chaffey offers unusually fine opportunities in Art, Agriculture, Business, Home Making, Shop and Music. These courses are tied up to actual life conditions such that students become proficient at school can enter occupational life with many handicaps removed.

The requirements for graduation are fixed by the State Board of Education, and are exacting but liberal. They are:

English—3 years
Physical Education—4 years
History and Government—2 years
Laboratory Science—1 year
Two academic majors
Sixteen units of work

Pre-registration days, changes of registration, and consultation with the principal are scheduled for Wednesday, Thursday and Saturday morning, September 10, 11 and 13.

All students who have already registered have their cards made out. Students wishing to change pre-registration must do so before Monday, September 15. Students who have not pre-registered should attend to pre-registration before September 15.

School work will start promptly Thursday, September 18, all classes meeting. A great year is ahead and a big registration is assured.

UPLAND PEOPLE
ENJOYING EUROPE

Letters and messages received recently from Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Freeman and their daughter, Alice, who left this country on the first of August to spend a year in Europe traveling and studying, tell of their pleasant journey across the water and sight-seeing tours in the British Isles. Old Chester appealed to them especially on account of the many remaining ruins of the old Roman occupation; Glasgow they did not care for—it was too dirty and smoky and reminded them too much of Upland after a "smudge." But Edinburgh, with a castle that "looks like a castle" both in architecture and its location on a prominent hill, and the very beautiful lake and hill country surrounding the city has appealed to them most thus far in their travels.

Many interesting things of historical interest have engaged their attention in London; and Mr. Freeman states that after viewing the British crown jewels, his Ingersoll watch looked like thirty cents. They have reached Paris by this time and will make their headquarters for some months either in France or in Geneva, Switzerland.

HUNDREDS SEE THE NATURALIZATION
KANDIDATESCHAFFEY ATHLETIC FIELD
TAXED TO OVER-

Impressive Ceremony Held in the Open. Parade of Mounted
Klansmen Led by Klan
Band and Members Forming the Cross of Fire.

With the towering heights of Old Baldy, Cucamonga and Ontario peaks shimmering in the distance through the moonlight, with ghost-like figures fitting to and fro across the athletic field of Chaffey Union High School, thousands of people waited patiently last evening while the Ku Klux Klan made ready the paraphernalia used in the initiation of candidates.

The large stand on the south side of the field was holding nearly its capacity at 7:30, and by 8 o'clock it became necessary to open the new bleachers on the north side of the field to the public, who thronged to witness this big outdoor spectacle at the invitation of the Klan.

It was around the curfew hour before the first distant notes of the band were wafted to the waiting thousands, and shortly afterwards the head of the parade, with a fiery cross in the lead, entered the grounds, and was greeted with cheers from the throng assembled. The fiery cross was followed by the different klans, with their leaders mounted on horseback. Several of the different klans had a living cross at their head, formed by members with small red electric lights fastened to the peak of their hoods, and the effect was very impressive.

The parade went around the field, enclosing the plot used for the initiation (beg pardon, the Klan call it "naturalization") ceremonies with a double row of the white-hooded figures, in the center of which was the altar with a large, red, fiery cross, and the four stations at the north, east, south and west from which the officers presided.

Dr. Burger of Pasadena gave a brief talk of about twenty minutes, on the aims and objects of the Klan, remarking that the ceremonies about to be put on were the same that were used all over the country, whether in a lodge room of the Klan or in the open, the only thing the public would not be able to learn being the password and signs.

The officers then took their stations and proceeded with the interesting and solemn work of "putting through" the candidates. The scene was very impressive with the fiery cross surrounded by the hundreds of white-robed figures, the red lights used to illuminate the different officers' stations, the band playing softly at intervals during the work, and the moonlight making the whole scene seem ghostly and yet adding something that will make it stand out forever in the memory of those who were fortunate enough to witness it.

There were somewhere between 80 and 100 candidates "naturalized" at the ceremony last night, according to the count of those who were present, the count varying all the way between.

Members of the Library committee of the Business and Professional Woman's Club are asked by the chairman, Mrs. F. H. Manker, to meet with her at the Public Library on Thursday evening at 7:30, to discuss and look over books for the San Antonio Community Hospital.

OFFICIAL CALL FOR MICHIGAN PICNIC, SATURDAY, SEPT. 28

The Michigan Association of Southern California, which has for nearly twenty-five years been putting on the mammoth picnic reunions semi-annually, is now making this official call for the fall reunion to be held all day Saturday (not Sunday), September 28, at Sycamore Grove Park, Los Angeles. Dr. M. R. Parmelee, Angelus 3205, is in charge of the plans and arrangements, and will preside over the program.

President Parmelee will carry out all the usual happy features of the picnic reunions, such as the county registers and headquarters, badges, coffee and program. Picnickers will carry basket dinners. All the Wolverines in all our southland are included in the wide-open and hearty invitation and are asked to pass the word to others from the old home state.

Michigan folks are assured that announcements of town, county or other picnics will not change this regular annual gathering of the Michiganders of all our southland.

All desired information may be secured of President Parmelee or of C. H. Parsons, Phone Trinity 3511, at the Continental National Bank, Ninth and Main Streets, where the Michigan registers may be found.

With the completion of the new transcontinental road in Africa, from Buta, in the Belgian Congo, to Mongalla, in the Sudan, a person will be able to cross Africa in a little more than three weeks.

COUNTY MINERALS TO BE EXHIBITED

Minerals mined in San Bernardino County will be exhibited in Sacramento at the twenty-seventh annual convention of the American Mining Congress, Sept. 29 to Oct. 4, by the San Bernardino County Associated Chambers of Commerce. It was announced yesterday by R. H. Mack, secretary of the local chamber and a director of the county organization.

Authorization to hold the exhibit was given yesterday by the Board of Supervisors. Mr. Mack and B. L. Holmes, president of the Orange Show, will leave on Thursday for Sacramento to make arrangements with the Department of Mines and Mining of the Sacramento Chamber of Commerce.

First for State in 14 Years
The convention, the first to be held by the congress in California in 14 years, is expected to draw thousands of miners and mine operators from all parts of the country.

Leading other counties of the state in the production of silver, tungsten and cement, and with vast deposits of gold, iron, lead, copper, zinc, potash, borax, salt, and other minerals, this county will have one of the most elaborate exhibits at the convention, according to plans being made by the associated chambers. In addition to the minerals, cement, marble and other building materials will be exhibited.

Plans Already Being Made
A number of mine owners and operators of the county have already announced their intention to enter exhibits, including officials of the Rand Silver Mine, which leads the country in silver production.

Pete J. Oswald, well-known mine operator, will have charge of the county exhibit. He requests all those intending to enter specimens to send them to the San Bernardino Chamber by Sept. 20, at the latest. Each specimen, he says, should be labelled as to the kind of ore, the mine from which it came, and the present and potential production of the mine. Cost of the county exhibit will be paid from the associated chambers' budget, according to Mr. Mack. He stated yesterday that, as an advertising medium of the county's mineral resources, the exhibit will prove of incalculable value.

CAESAR SAID TO BE MOONSHINER

Declared to be the owner of one of the most elaborately equipped instruments for the manufacture of liquor in large quantities that has ever come to the attention of county authorities, J. Mike Caesar, a Hungarian, 70 years old, was placed under arrest in Pasadena at the request of Sheriff W. A. Shay. He was released Wednesday night on bail furnished in the Rialto justice court.

Caesar's still, capable of turning out 100 gallons of liquor at a filling, was seized last Saturday by Deputy Sheriff Jack Brown and Emmet Shay at a ranch on Highland avenue near Etiwanda. Caesar was not to be found at the time but it was later learned he had fled prior to the arrival of the officers. He was traced to Pasadena by Sheriff W. A. Shay and his arrest Wednesday was the result.

In addition to the still 50 gallons of recently prepared whiskey and 20 gallons of mash was seized in the raid. Eleven barrels, which officers say had once contained mash were found underneath Caesar's house.

The still was located in a deep cellar in one end of Caesar's chicken yard. The entrance to the cellar, which was elaborately boarded, was carefully hidden underneath a heavy pile of brush. A pipe for ventilation purposes came up through the center of the brush. Water was piped to the cellar from a nearby plant. The huge still was removed from the cellar with difficulty and, together with the whiskey was brought to the county jail. The mash was destroyed on the ranch.

The source of large supplies of liquor in the west end district has been under investigation by officers for some time and Caesar was suspected but it was not until last week that the location of the huge still was determined. Seldom has a more elaborately equipped layout for the manufacture of liquor been found in the county, officers declare.

TUESDAY, SEPTEMBER 9, 1924.

Back To School

THE most significant event of the year takes place in September when millions of children go back to school. When the final history of this age of democracy is written the common school will be set down as its greatest glory.

Here they come—children of all classes, religions and races, trooping into the schoolrooms where they sit side by side to study and to learn. This is not only an institution for the informing of the mind, it is the training school of democracy and its importance as the representative institution of the commonwealth cannot be overestimated.

Class consciousness, snobishness, intolerance, superciliousness, cannot exist in the atmosphere of the public school. Here the barriers that separate classes and creeds, races and communities, are broken down. A sense of mutual sympathy and understanding is developed, the solidarity of the nation is exemplified, and the one loyalty to the flag as against all other obedience and authorities and allegiances is emphasized.

Seventy years ago Theodore Parker declared: "The common school is the cradle of America's greatness." Twenty-five centuries ago Diogenes said: "Education is the basis of the Greek state." We may well say: the public school is the foundation of the American state.

The greatness and glory of this United States waxes and wanes with the development or decline of the public school. If by reason of the growth of some other system of schools, or by a failure on the part of the citizenship to appreciate the unique civic significance of the public school, it should fall into decay a body blow would be struck at the republic.

Sometime this axiom of democracy will be universally recognized and the parents of the nation frankly and patriotically acknowledging this truth shall gladly send their children to the public schools to be instructed in secular subjects, to be trained in American citizenship, to grow up in the atmosphere of democracy, and to be imbued with the idealistic spirit of Washington and Lincoln. Herein lies the assurance of America's future.—The New Age.

Worlds Unknown

THE fact that the planet Mars has been nearer the earth than it has been for hundreds of years has afforded scientists a unique opportunity for making further explorations in that region of the unknown. Although nothing has been added to the theory that life in its higher forms may exist on the planet, data has been secured which will materially aid in arriving at a truer estimate of the physical features of this far-off world.

That there are other worlds and other scenes as yet undreamed of in our philosophy there is no reason to doubt, but that mankind exists on any other astral sphere, is purely hypothetical. What effect such a discovery would have on the established order of the universe, it is impossible to conjecture, but it is one before which all the discoveries that have been made by sages and seers since the world began would fade into insignificance.

There is a theory that Mars is in a much more advanced state of evolution than the earth, but this is based on the assumption that it is a much older planet. All this is purely speculative, and as Sir Oliver Lodge says, Mars may still be in the stage occupied by the earth millions of years before the appearance of man. The fact of the matter is that scientists do not know. They can only base fresh theories on the steadily increasing revealing power of giant telescopes, and the other instruments which modern advancement is making available.

The chances are that it will be many years before anything of importance will be added to our knowledge of whether life in any form does or does not exist in these worlds unknown. Till then the old earth must remain the super planet.

No Danger

A SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA woman the other day received an anxious letter from relatives in Florida. "We've been reading so much about the terrible forest fires in California," the letter said, "that we can't help wondering if you been burned out yet. We hope you have escaped safely."

That gives an idea of how California's fires are being magnified in states which are jealous of the great and steadily increasing tide of travel to this region. It is quite possible that many people back East have the preposterous idea that travel is hardly safe in California this year.

Of course the notion is ridiculous! Visitors are in more danger from alligators in Florida than from fires in California. Travel is just as safe and pleasant and convenient here as it ever was. Nine-tenths of the people of California wouldn't know there had been any fires in this great state if they hadn't read of them in the papers. There have been fires, all right, fires which have roused the state to vigorous action. But California still is happy and smiling, sitting on its front porch and ready to receive company.

There is a lesson in this, however, for our own people. Every Californian who, when out camping, is careless about his campfire or doesn't care where he throws his cigarette butts is guilty of a double disloyalty. He is giving outsiders a chance to injure the reputation of his state abroad, in addition to the harm he may do to our valuable forests and watersheds.—Los Angeles Times.

State Expenditures Reduced

THE division of printing of the state government spent $110,000 less during the fiscal year ended July 1 than had been appropriated to it by the last Legislature. "When the budget was made up, State Printer Smith asked for $600,000 a year, or $1,200,000 for the biennium, the latter figure representing a reduction of $102,000 from the cost of operating the state printing office the preceding two years by the former administration. There was actually spent less than $500,000 during the first year. The largest item of decrease was one of $22,000 in the cost of printing school textbooks for the State Board of Education. This sort of economy appeals to everybody except those hungry folk who have been feeding off the public pie counter.—Banning Record

Tested Recipes

September is generally a busy month for the housewife, and is the "cleaning up" month of the summer work. Many pickles and catsups which will be used this winter will be made during the next few weeks, and the following recipes will be found useful.

Green Tomato Pickle

Slice six pounds of green tomatoes, dissolve one cup salt in one quart of cold water, pour over sliced tomatoes and after standing two hours, drain dry through colander. Put tomatoes into one quart of vinegar to which has been added one pound brown sugar, one level teaspoonful each of allspice, celery seed, mustard, pepper, cloves and cinnamon. Boil all together for one-half hour after it begins boiling, then simmer for one hour. Bottle and seal.

Pickled Figs

Wash and drain ripe firm figs, with stems. Make a syrup of 1 quart of vinegar, 4 pounds of sugar, to which has been added a bag of ground spices, cinnamon, cloves and ginger. This is sufficient for eight pounds of fruit. Boil all together until figs are transparent. Put figs in jars, pour boiling syrup over and seal tightly.

Chili Sauce

Boil 24 large tomatoes, 3 green peppers, 1 teaspoonful cayenne, 1 minced onion, and 1 small cup of sugar together. When tomatoes and peppers are soft, add 8 cups vinegar, 1 tablespoonful salt, ginger and cloves. Boil 35 minutes and seal while hot.

Spanish Relish

One head cabbage, one dozen cucumbers, one dozen medium-sized onions, one tablespoon each celery seed and mustard seed, one cup sugar, red peppers to taste. Grind cabbage and onion, mix with one cup of salt and drain after one hour. Grind cucumbers and add to mixture enough vinegar to cover. Let come to the boil; boil steadily for five minutes, and seal.

Pickled Peaches

Two pounds brown sugar, 2 cups vinegar, 1 large stick cinnamon, 1 teaspoonful cloves, four quarts of peeled peaches. Boil sugar, spices and vinegar together for ten minutes. Place a few peaches at a time in the syrup and cook until tender. Pack in jars, and pour hot syrup over to cover, seal immediately.

Plum Conserve

Four pounds of plums, one cup seeded raisins, juice of two oranges, sugar, half-pound chopped walnuts. Remove stones from plums, and add raisins which have been chopped or run through machine, measure and add three-quarters of a cup of sugar to each cup of plums. Put into kettle, cook slowly for 45 minutes, stirring to keep from burning, or place in fireless cooker for two hours. Then add lemon juice and chopped nuts. Pour into jars and seal.

Tomato Relish

This is good to put up on a hot day, as it requires no cooking. Ten pounds ripe tomatoes, 4 large peppers, 2 heads celery, 6 large white onions, grind together with coarse cutter, add one cup salt and drain overnight. In the morning add 2 pounds brown sugar, 2 tablespoonsful mustard seed and 2 cups vinegar. Mix well and seal.

Corn Relish

Twelve ears corn cut from cob, 12 green and 2 red peppers, chopped fine, one quart chopped cucumbers, one quart chopped tomatoes, one quart chopped onions, one teaspoonful celery seed, one teaspoonful mustard seed, two cups sugar, one-half cup salt, 2 quarts of vinegar. Boil slowly one hour and seal in glass jars.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS

Tea and Coffee Stains

Look over the tablecloths and napkins before wetting them. If there are tea or coffee stains, place the stained parts in cold water for a few minutes, then wash as usual in good hot suds and you will have no trouble with stains. This is not guaranteed to remove old stains, as stains are set at once if they are placed in hot water. Form the habit of looking for stains before washing your clothes. It takes only a moment.

Save on Ironing

The housekeeper who washes and irons at home can reduce the amount of ironing very greatly by running the flat pieces through the wringer of her electric washing machine. The wringer should be tightened before running the pieces through. Towels, dish-towels, sheets and pillowcases and other similar flat pieces may be ironed in this way, and while they are not quite as smooth as when mangled at the commercial laundry, they are very satisfactory.

The weather man is right 88 times out of every 100 of his predictions about the weather and temperature. This is claimed by James H. Scarr, who has been in charge of New York City's weather bureau for fifteen years. He bases his claim on the forecast of his territory during that time.

Excitement is running high in the little fruit town of Peachland, British Columbia. Indians reached Peachland with nearly one hundred dollars in placer gold, and since then parties of aborigines have left for the interior to return with well-filled pouches, but absolutely noncommittal as to the sources of their wealth.

We have a limited amount of frost insurance allotted us for this district again this year.

"Poppyland," a charming musical pageant written by Miss E. Jean Gibson of Los Angeles, and presented Friday night by the Ontario Booster's Club, was declared a decided success by a large audience.

A feature of the entertainment was the beauty and number of costumes, for each member of the cast wore at least four different sets of apparel. An interesting point in connection with this feature is that the costumes were made by the actors themselves, under the direction of Mrs. E. W. Jamison, a prominent member of the club.

Members of the cast included children from 3 to 16 years of age, all of whom showed that much time and thought had been put upon their training.

Miss Mildred Page, three-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Page, South Campus Avenue, who was dressed in red, scored tremendous favor with the audience, as did a mock wedding, with Miss Minnie Jane Richardson as the bride and Master Robert as the bridegroom.

An outstanding dance of the performance was that of the wild-wood rabbit, which was done by Miss Alice Johaneck of Inglewood.

Misses Doris Wentzel, Martha Hall, Vivian Metcalf, Sara Timewell, Shirley Timewell, Anna McKenna, Alice Johaneck and Adella Vannatta, all of Inglewood and pupils of Miss Gibson, author of the play, composed the white ballet.

Various numbers in the pageant included those called "The Storm," "Wild Flowers," "Butterflies," "Gypsies," "Ancient Egypt," "Colonial Days."

At the conclusion of the performance the children of the cast presented Mrs. Jamison with a beautiful bouquet to express their appreciation of her efforts in behalf of the pageant. A telegram from Miss B. B. MacFarlane of New Orleans, who with her mother was a recent visitor here, offered success and best wishes to this undertaking of the club.

Lauding the plans which have been laid for Ontario's, Upland's and China's observance of National Defence Day, Lieut. Clarence Kane, commander of Ross Field and March Field, declared at a meeting of the San Bernardino Chapter of the Reserve Officers' Association of the United States Friday night at the Casa Blanca Hotel that, since he was in touch with the preparations being made by other cities throughout the United States, it seemed to him that the observance here would stand out prominently in this country.

He also said that the attitude being taken by these three cities is the attitude evidently intended by the government in ordering the day, and that he was very much in accord with the plans being made here under the direction of a committee whose chairman is Roy D. Newton.

Col. James Pierce of Redlands, president of the organization, and Major Drake of Los Angeles, who addressed the meeting, also praised the program being arranged for next Friday. Lieut. R. G. Vaughn of Ontario, was chairman of the meeting.

Mr. Newton today issued the official program, as it stands at the present time.

According to a proclamation ordering a half-holiday on Sept. 12, the automobile parade will start from Chaffey Union High School at 1:30 p.m. At least fifty decorated automobiles and floats from China will be entered, following a parade in that city at 12 o'clock noon, and a large number of Upland autos will make the affair one of three cities rather than of one.

The line of march will be from Chaffey north to Upland, down to the Ontario business district on the east side of Euclid Avenue, and back to Chaffey. Aside from the floats and decorated automobiles, the municipal band and the Rev. Paul Wright's band will march.

The arrangements for the parade are in charge of the Lions Club, with Harry de Berard as chairman of the committee.

Until five o'clock the Kiwanis Club will be in direction of the proceedings, under orders of a committee headed by George Fekler of the Y.M.C.A. Old-fashioned games, including tug-of-war, baseball, medicine ball and other stunts will fill the afternoon.

At five o'clock in the afternoon the people of Ontario, Upland and China are invited to a huge picnic on Chaffey lawn. Music will be played by the bands during the supper hour, and at 6:30 the Rotary Clubs of Upland and Ontario will present a program.

The municipal band will give a special program which will include folk songs, patriotic songs, and all the old familiar tunes of America.

The organizations which have agreed to take part in the celebration include the Masonic lodge, the I.O.O.F., the Neighbors of Woodcraft, the W.O.W., the Elks, the Rotary, Lions and Kiwanis Clubs, the Business Men's Association, the Business Women's Association, the Current Events Club, the Edith Cavell Chapter, the American Legion and the A. L. Auxiliary, the W.C.T.U., the firemen of the City of Ontario, the Ku Klux Klan, the Ontario Booster Club, the Eastside Improvement Association, the D.A.R. and the G.A.R., the Boy Scouts, the Chamber of Commerce, and a number of local industrial concerns.

Old Paper Exhibited

A copy of "The North Ontario Surprise," dated Thursday, Dec. 21, 1899, was being exhibited today by Judge George R. Holbrook in his offices in the city hall.

This paper was published at the time that the present City of Upland was known as North Ontario, by R. W. Rontzong.

Advertisements on the front page, news stories written in a familiar style, type sizes and general arrangement are some of the outstanding differences between the "North Ontario Surprise" and modern newspapers.

Names of pioneer citizens who are still prominent here are to be found in the old paper and include James B. Draper, E. H. Joliffe and Leroy R. Bradley of Upland.

JUDGE OLNEY TALKS OFFICERS MAKE REPLY

In plainly worded statements, Sheriff Walter A. Shay and District Attorney George H. Johnson yesterday replied to Superior Judge Jesse Olney's criticism of their acts last week in granting parole to T. V. Shafer and Estella Farquhar, convicted of a charge of contributing to the delinquency of a minor.

Selecting a time when his courtroom was crowded with spectators and jurors called in a criminal case to attack the sheriff and prosecutor. Judge Olney denounced the two county officers. Describing Shafer and Mrs. Farquhar, convicted of a misdemeanor offense, as criminals, the jurist declared that it should be written on the minutes of the court that he had no hand in the act.

Shay Cites Law in Case

Particularly vitriolic in his comments, the jurist said that he would be compelled to double the sentences usually imposed "if such practices are to continue."

"I don't know whether Judge Olney is aware of it," said Sheriff Shay when told of the judge's words, "but the law of California names the sheriff and district attorney as a parole board in misdemeanor cases."

"In the case of Shafer and Mrs. Farquhar, they were convicted on evidence furnished by Erlando Patino, a girl who later swore to a statutory offense against her father, now held in jail. I understand that she later said part of her testimony in the case against Shafer, and Mrs. Farquhar was false. This information was furnished me by Probation Officer George Larmore, who made an investigation of the case."

Probation Officer Investigated

"Mr. Larmore personally recommended a parole for Shafer and Mrs. Farquhar. I signed the parole with District Attorney Johnson. I believe the case was one where a parole was justifiable. As sheriff of this county, I know my duties without asking Judge Olney's opinion."

Shafer and Mrs. Farquhar were sentenced to serve nine months in the county jail. They have served more than half of the sentences and were in jail for more than a month before their trial was held before Judge Olney.

Johnson Has No Apologies

District Attorney Johnson also announced that a serious question as to the truthfulness of the evidence in the case against Shafer and Mrs. Farquhar has developed.

"I have no apologies to offer, particularly to Judge Olney," said the prosecutor, "for approving a parole in either of these cases."

Now Question Girl's Story

"As a member of the county board of parole, I approve the parole granted Shafer and Mrs. Farquhar primarily because a serious question regarding the evidence against them has arisen since their conviction."

"In the case of Shafer, the following facts were given consideration, to-wit:

"He is a young man; comes from a good family; has lived in this community for a number of years and has always borne a good reputation. He is not in any sense of the word a criminal."

"In the case of Estella Farquhar, the following facts were given particular consideration, to-wit:

"She is the mother of a child of very tender years, who needs her careful care and, although this defendant is not of unquestioned character, she has no criminal record."

"In addition to the other matters stated above, the affection of a mother for her child is, in my mind, worthy of consideration in her case."

Will Testify Against Father
The Patino girl will be called as one of the witnesses against her own father when his case comes before the superior court.

Judge Olney's statement follows:

"The attention of the court has been called to the fact that during the absence of the Judge of this department and without his knowledge or consent, a criminal, one Shafer, serving sentence of this court in the county jail and to whom this court had denied proba-

DRILLING FOR OIL SITE NEAR YERMO

Renewing drilling operations on a site 15 miles east of Yermo, the Western Pacific Oil Company has installed a 120 foot derrick. Last year, the drillers were forced to abandon a well at a depth of 2,500 feet because of an uncontrollable flow of salt water in the shaft.

Superintendent Walter Wilhelm, of the Western Pacific Oil company, is personally supervising the installation of the derrick. He announced that $50,000 would be invested in drilling operations on the site, pronounced by geologists as "favorable for developing a producing field on the desert."

Contract Is Awarded

The drilling contract has been awarded to Puhle Miller, of Long Beach. G. B. Rice is head driller. A rotary drill will be used. Two boilers and a power plant are being installed on the site. The equipment was hauled to the well site on motor trucks from the Signal Hill field.

The well will be one of the largest in the southland. It will be 20 inches in diameter on the surface and 15 inches in width at the 500-foot level.

Residents of the desert are excited over the possibility of developing a field near Yermo. The old site was selected by geologists nearly two years ago. As the drill reached a depth of 2,500 feet, excellent showings of oil were obtained. A flow of salt water blocked the operations and despite all known methods of controlling the water flow, the well had to be abandoned. The new site is 100 yards east of the old well.

Start Drill Next Week

Drilling will begin early next week. Convinced because of the showings obtained in the old well that the district will produce oil in commercial quantities, Mr. Wilhelm and directors of his company have continued their work without publicity.

The well will be one of the first to be drilled by standard equipment on the desert. The old well gave promise of developing into a producer before the salt water flow blocked further drilling.

The site of the well is on the Union Pacific Railway and Arrowhead Trail Highway, 15 miles east of Yermo.

tion, has been paroled and set at liberty by the district attorney and sheriff of this county.

Orders Record On Minutes

"Lest there be any misapprehension on the part of the people of San Bernardino County whom this court serves, that the judge of this department of this criminal, this record will be spread upon the minutes of the court."

"The case in which Shafer was convicted, together with a woman named Farquhar, consumed two days of the court's time in trial before a jury who convicted both defendants. The charge was one of the grossest vulgarity, contributing to the delinquency of a minor. This court tempered justice with mercy and sentenced the pair to serve nine months in the county jail. Now, without notice to this trial court, I understand the district attorney and sheriff have freed the man Shafer on parole and the woman with him."

Will Double Jail Sentence

The court hereby denounces the act and such practices and states for the benefit of all concerned that hereafter it will be compelled, if such practices are to continue, to double jail sentence terms which it would ordinarily impose, so that if paroled and set free by the district attorney and sheriff, criminals will still have served the terms which the court believes fair punishment and the public interest be thus served and protected.

"Such a situation of the paroling of criminals in this county without the knowledge of this trial court which sentenced them, is unfortunate, and the act of the district attorney and sheriff in thus freeing criminals by parole is deplorable in the attempt by thus shortening jail sentences to block the full punishment of crime by this department."

"The photograph flatters you," commented the plain-spoken young man.

"Then it is more polite than you are," said the young woman, indignantly.

CONDUCT SCHOOL TEACHING ART OF BOOZE MAKING

Startling disclosures of the wholesale operations of a carefully conducted correspondence school, specializing in "moonshining" courses only, were made public in Los Angeles yesterday, following an "undercover" investigation of several weeks by federal prohibition officials.

The Los Angeles "school," together with a "branch office" said to have been launched in San Francisco, has instructed approximately 5000 moonshiners in the arts and secrets of successful liquor distillation during the period of its existence, the federal investigators asserted. Although some of the "pupils" are registered from adjoining states the great majority of the "student body" hails from Los Angeles itself or points in Southern California.

$100,000 Profit

The promoters of this amazing "institution of learning" are declared to have realized nearly $100,000 in fees collected from persons thirsting for information and guidance along certain "spirit lines."

According to Federal Enforcement Agent George R. Grotewohl, in charge of the Los Angeles "dry" office, the "moonshine school" has been specializing in three courses of instruction, which might roughly be likened to high school, college and post-graduate work in other institutions. The courses and the corresponding tuition in each course are as follows:

- 1—Simple distillation of corn products. Course, $10.
- 2—Distillation of all grain and fruit products. Course $25.
- 3—Complete distillation course, domestic wine manufacture, expert instruction for home brewers, how to turn new liquor into old, how to detect and prevent poison in liquor manufacture, advice as to marketing, etc. Course, complete in all subjects, $50.

Quality Better

Federal officials first began to suspect the existence of such a school several months ago when analysis of liquor samples, seized in various parts of the district, revealed the fact that the liquor was almost "palatable," and of a much higher quality than the seizure tested a year ago. Because of the fact that many of the "old-time" moonshiners had been arrested and their plants broken up, the puzzled run sleuths knew that the higher grade liquor was not the result of the "practice makes perfect" adage. In a number of seizures, it was learned that the liquor which showed an unusual degree of "proof" and quality, was virtually the first "batch" to be turned out by the embryo moonshiner.

Arrests Near

Agent D. J. O'Leary, veteran "rum sleuth" of the federal office, was then assigned to running down clues as to the origin of the "textbooks." O'Leary interviewed dozens of moonshiners and obtained several copies of the "instructions" under which the moonshiners were operating. Although both O'Leary and Grotewohl were convinced that the activities of the "school" are illegal, they will consult with United States Attorney Joe Burke this week before making arrests, even if they should be successful in learning the actual identities of those guilty.

DO YOU BLAME HER?

The young lady traveler from Chicago had been away from home long enough to realize that climate is an important item of conversation on the Pacific coast. In fact, she had heard all she cared to hear of California's sunshine.

The bachelor of Los Angeles was pouring forth his heart's message. "You are the sunshine of my life. You alone reign in my heart. Without you life is but a dreary cloud. Your smile is as the dawn's dew on yon mountain flower. Your eyes are like unto the eternal blue skies above us. Your whisper is as the gentle breezes which waft the—"

"Just a minute," interrupted the object of his affections. "Is this a proposal or another boost for your climate?"

QUEER ASSAULT CASE IS TRIED

One of the queerest assault cases in the history of the Superior Court opened before a jury in Superior Judge Jesse Olney's court.

It is the case of T. Y. Miller, an Indian, charged with a murderous assault on Jose Frausti, a Mexican, at Needles six weeks ago. Although the state is expected to rest its case this morning, no motive for the assault has been disclosed.

Claim Mexican Was Kicked Then Shot

Frausti testified that, while he was standing on the railway station platform at Needles, the Indian, Miller, approached him. Without a word, the Mexican testified, Miller kicked him on the ankle and then drew an automatic pistol and began shooting. Frausti was shot three times, one bullet entering the hip, another the chest, and the third penetrated Frausti's intestines.

The wounded Mexican was rushed to the general hospital where his recovery was described by Dr. E. L. Tysinger as remarkable.

Officers testified that Miller was arrested as he ran away from the wounded man.

Defense Case To Come Today

Miller has called a number of witnesses, who are expected to testify in his behalf today, but so far as discernible yesterday his defense is a mystery. He is represented by Attorneys Duckworth & Harrison. Deputy District Attorneys A. S. Maloney and C. O. Thompson are prosecuting.

A serious condition is reported from the Isthmus of Tehuantepec and in sections of the state of Vera Cruz, owing to the appearance of a plague of grasshoppers. Several collisions on the railways in that area have been due to the insects, and the Department of Agriculture has sent out tanks filled with crude petroleum to halt the advance of the grasshopper army.

SAFETY LESSONS SAVE LIVES

Comparison of the child fatalities in Los Angeles city for the first six months of 1923 with a similar period of 1924 shows a marked decrease, regardless of the fact that automobiles and population have increased greatly in number.

The fatalities between the ages of five and 16 years were 27 during the first half of 1923, and in 1924 this decreased to 23, or approximately 15 per cent less.

The explanation given for this is that the safety instruction introduced in the public schools of Los Angeles by the public safety department of the Automobile Club of Southern California is highly effective, and is resulting in lessening the toll of young lives through preventable accidents.

MRS. DURHAM
HOSTESS

Mrs. Leon Durham was hostess last Thursday at her ranch home on West Thirteenth Street, to members of the Central Board of Aid and Home Missionary Societies of the Presbyterian Church, whom she entertained with a prettily appointed one o'clock luncheon, and also honored her house guest, Miss Sinaabel Hart of Brawley.

Following the daintily served meal, an animated discussion of the affairs of the church societies took place, several subjects being talked over in readiness for the first meeting after the summer vacation, which will be held on September 18.

A very delightful social hour was enjoyed after business was finished, and the Upland guests had a pleasant visit with Miss Hart and their hostess.

Besides Miss Hart, those present were Mrs. R. C. Stone, Mrs. P. J. Potts, Mrs. Nellie Mason, Mrs. H. W. Hawkings, Mrs. W. B. Cavers, Mrs. Marshall, Miss Bertha Palmer, Miss Rose Doole.

WEDDING—SHINGLER

One of the prettiest weddings of the season was solemnized on Sunday afternoon at five o'clock, when Miss Charlotte Alice Shingler, daughter of Mrs. John Shingler of San Antonio Heights, and Harry Teger Hedges, son of Mrs. Edgar Holt of East Eleventh Street, were married, Dr. R. C. Stone of the Presbyterian Church officiating at the ceremony.

The bride wore a white brocade silk gown, and her wedding veil was fastened with a wreath of orange blossoms. She carried a shower bouquet of white rose buds, delphinium and maiden-hair fern, and was attended by her sister, Miss Dorothy Shingler, as maid of honor, and her small niece, Jane Craig, who was flower girl.

Both attendants were gowned in a pretty shade of pink voile, and the maid of honor carried a charming bouquet of Cecile Bruner rosebuds and fern, while the dainty little flower girl held a basket of old-fashioned blossoms.

SOCIETY

The groom's best man was Howard Mitchell of Ontario. Mrs. Earle Johnson at the pipe organ played the Bridal Chorus from Lohengrin when the wedding procession entered, and continued to play softly during the service. "Oh Promise Me" was sung very sweetly by Mrs. J. Lynnward Grahame, and the triumphant strains of Mendelssohn's Wedding March was played as the bridal couple left the church.

The building was most beautifully decorated by members of the Tatapochin Camp Fire to which the bride belongs, and asters, zinnias, and many other flowers now in season were used in a very artistic display by the camp fire girls, who numbered Eleanor Youngstrom, Elizabeth Lemon, Wilma Moser, Edith Bridenbaugh, Helen Goodrich, Rhoda Widmer.

Following the wedding a reception was given to numerous relatives and friends at the home of the bride, Mrs. John Shingler, on the Heights, and Mr. and Mrs. Harry Hedges left that same evening for a honeymoon motor trip which will be spent in the northern part of the state.

They will be at home to their friends after September 15th, in their new residence on Sixth Avenue.

WEDDING OF FORMER UPLAND GIRL—

The marriage of Miss Wilma Mae Yoder, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Samuel B. Yoder, to Norman E. Ramseyer of Los Angeles, was celebrated on Saturday, September 6th, at the home of the bride's parents in Pomona.

The young people are both attending the Bible Institute in Los Angeles, and thirty of their fellow students came to Pomona to help celebrate the happy event. The Rev. John C. Mehl of Upland officiated. The Yoder family were formerly residents of Upland and have many friends here who will be interested to hear of the marriage of Miss Yoder.

AUXILIARY MEET HELD MONDAY—

A great number of members of the Woman's Auxiliary of the Upland Post 73 American Legion were present at the regular meeting held at the Legion Clubhouse on Monday afternoon, and a very busy afternoon was spent on business matters.

Mrs. Everett H. Fuller, president, was in the chair, and among other things, plans were perfected for the luncheon to be given for the Inter-post County Council at The Sycamores on Thursday, September 18th. Those who intend to go are asked to notify Mrs. Fuller not later than Monday next in order to have the proper reservations made.

The Rummage Sale to be held in the vacant store on Ninth Street, usually called Benson's, on September 20th, was talked over, and the affair promises to be most successful. Those having articles to donate are asked to leave them at the Legion Clubhouse on Second Avenue, if they cannot bring them direct to the store on the 20th.

The Auxiliary members will help the Upland Post on National Defense Day during the celebration which will take place at Chaffey.

After the business hour a delightful social time followed, when the committee headed by Mrs. T. W. Nisbet and Mrs. Archie Moore served refreshments.

BOWDEN'S RETURN FROM EASTERN TRIP—

Mr. and Mrs. E. O. Bowden and their children, Gladys and William, returned on Friday from a 9,000-mile motor trip, which began on June 24th, when they left Upland with A. M. Bowden, brother of Mr. Bowden, of Los Angeles, in his Stinson car, for Pittsburg, Pa. They made the journey in ten days over the Santa Fe trail, and arrived with California air in the tires. During their stay of two and a half months, the Bowdens visited New York, Buffalo, Niagara, Iowa, Omaha, Neb.; Newcastle, Pa., and several other places. The return trip was made over the Lincoln Highway, which the motorists declare is not as good as the Santa Fe route.

"Visited a machine at Doctor Franklins (called a Mangle) for pressing, in place of ironing, clothes from the wash—Which machine from the facility with which it despatches business is well calculated for Table cloths & such articles as have not pleats & irregular foldings and would be very useful in all large families."

ATTORNEY HILTON REPRESENTS JUDGE BEFORE THE COURT

JUDGE OLNEY'S ATTOR- NEYS FILE A DE- MURRER

Thirty Days in Which to Submit Their Case in Brief. Attorney Caesar Roberts of Los Angeles Assists Attorney Hilton.

Represented before the California District Court of Appeals by private attorneys, Superior Judge Olney yesterday attempted to halt the transferring of the case of A. W. Terry, dry sleuth, charged with bribery, to another court for trial. Terry asked a change of venue, because of the asserted prejudice of Judge Olney.

Judge Olney's private attorneys were O. N. Hilton of Ontario, and Caesar Roberts of Los Angeles. County Cannot Pay Private Attorneys.

In retaining private attorneys to represent him, Judge Olney ignored District Attorney George H. Johnson, named by law to represent superior court jurists in cases appealed to the higher courts.

But Judge Olney must pay the attorneys—if they are paid.

"There are no county funds for employment of special counsel to represent superior court judges in the courts," said Chairman A. G. Kendall, of the Board of Supervisors. "Nor is there any law by which the county can legally hire attorneys for such duties."

Olney ignores County Official. Asked if he had read Chairman Kendall's statement, Judge Olney declared:

"I don't care what Mr. Kendall says. It is utterly immaterial to me."

"Who retained the attorneys that appeared for you in the appellate court?" he was asked.

"I can't see that it is anybody's business," he replied.

District Attorney Johnson was in Los Angeles yesterday, but he did not appear before the appellate court when the case was called. Attorney Hilton announcing that he and Attorney Roberts were representing the jurist. Attorney Hilton was counsel for Editor John K. Tibbitts, of the Labor Journal, in the case where the district attorney charged Tibbitts with criminal libel. This case was disposed of by Judge Olney in his first act after his defeat by Attorney Charles L. Allison for re-election at the August primaries. Judge Olney sustaining Attorney Hilton's demurrer to the complaint.

Says He is Not Prejudiced

In the hearing before the appellate court yesterday, Judge Olney filed a demurrer to Terry's charges that he cannot obtain a fair and impartial trial in Judge Olney's court because of the asserted prejudice of the jurist against him. Terry, through his attorney, Fred Duffy, had previously asked a change of venue in Judge Olney's court. Judge Olney denied the request, filing an affidavit in contravention, asserting that he was not prejudiced against the accused dry sleuth, whose case was frequently discussed in politics.

In his plea for a transfer of his case, Terry incorporated Judge Olney's remarks to the prosecutor relative to the Terry case. Terry contended that these remarks were indicative of the jurist's asserted prejudices.

The appellate court justices allowed Judge Olney's attorneys to file a demurrer and granted them thirty days in which to submit their case in brief form. The court three weeks ago issued an alternative writ of prohibition, barring Judge Olney from hearing the case until he had shown cause why the case should not be transferred to another court, as Terry requested.

Of the Business and Professional
Woman's Club of Upland

Mrs. L. R. Nichols

Mrs. L. R. Nichols, proprietor of "The Upland Art Shoppe," started in business for herself a little over a year ago, after conducting a hemstitching parlor in the J. J. Atwood store previously. She is building up a very good business along her special lines and is doing so by adhering to certain business principles that she believes in thoroughly. One of these is "small profit on each article but quick turnover." Consequently, her stock changes rapidly and she has no "carry-over" from season to season.

Mrs. Nichols and her helper, Miss Frieda Wedel, both have the happy faculty of making you feel perfectly welcome in the "Shoppe" whether you come in to buy or just to look around—or only to have a little visit with them. The other day the writer noticed a large basket installed in a convenient place where each article brought in to be hemstitched and the work completed was wrapped, tied, marked with name and price and placed in this basket all ready for the customer when she came in for her particular piece of work. This, perhaps, is a little thing to mention—but it certainly saves the customers time and is a convenient way to handle this part of her work.

Mrs. Nichols takes an active interest in all our civic undertakings and although living at present in Ontario, where she owns a home, hopes in the near future to become a bona-fide resident of Upland.

Miss Lillian Williams

We suspect that Miss Williams is the oldest member (in years) of our Club, but she is one of those "ever-young" people who is so busy carrying on her various business activities and, in her leisure time, doing kind things for other folks, that she just does not have time "to grow old."

When she was a young woman and lived in Wisconsin she took up her profession of china painting, studying art at the Hillside Home School; a very fine school established by the noted Wisconsin educator and philosopher, Jenkin Lloyd Jones. When her parents came to California to live, she accompanied them and entered Chaffey College to further pursue her studies, later on graduating from the Art Department.

Since then, she has frequently taken private lessons in Los Angeles so as to enable her to keep

In touch with all new ways and ideas in the decorating of china. At various seasons of the year you can see a display of her work in the windows of the Hat Shop, and a visit to her home is interesting on account of her work displayed there, both paintings and china.

Since the death of her father some years ago, however, china painting has been her pastime rather than her business, for she had to give the largest part of her time to the management of a ten-acre lemon ranch and other large real estate holdings.

Miss Williams usually hires all the work done on her ranch and applies her energies only to the supervision but, in an emergency, when she cannot get the proper help, she "does her regalia" and can either help smudge or look after the irrigating as necessity demands.

Those who know Miss Williams best will agree with me when I say she is not given to very much talking—but when it comes to doing—she is right there "on the job."

In the days of the Roman Empire, criminals were punished by drowning, and the Anglo-Saxon codes condemned women thieves to be drowned. While this form of punishment soon became obsolete, it survived in Scotland until 1685 (the year of the drowning of the Wigtown martyrs), and in France was employed as late as 1793.

A number of Upland young people left here at ten-thirty Saturday night to climb Old Baldy, and succeeded in reaching the top, and also in coming down again, without any mishap, even crossing the Devil's backbone was not a very difficult operation. SOCIETY

MRS. C. C. SPENCER SPEAKS TO CLUB WOMEN— That there is money in rabbits if handled in a business-like manner, was the statement today of Mrs. C. C. Spencer, member of the Upland Business and Professional Woman's Club, who addressed the club at the noon luncheon held at the Upland Hotel on the subject of rabbits. The Spencers specialize in New Zealand Reds and American Blues, and Mrs. Spencer gave a highly interesting account of the care of the rabbits and the difference in raising those for meat and those solely for exhibition. Four litters a year keeps a rabbit mother in good condition, and she often has seventeen at a litter. Eight are generally left for the one mother, the others being taken away and distributed among foster mothers. The profit in rabbits, said Mrs. Spencer, consists in having a large quantity so that food, etc., may be purchased in wholesale manner. She mentioned the sum of $8.00 net per doe as being a reasonable profit to get. Mrs. Spencer's talk was listened to with pleasure, and she answered several questions afterwards asked by interested hearers.

Mrs. C. V. Calhoun presided, and several business matters were taken up at the meeting. Mrs. Charles Allen of the social committee announced that a dinner to be followed by dancing and other amusements would be held on Tuesday, September 23rd, at Los Serranos Country Club, south of Chino, and that an invitation extended to the Upland Business Men's Association to join had been accepted by them. The social committee will, according to custom, sell the tickets, $1.25 per plate, before hand, and as many have signified their intention of going present together with their husbands, sweethearts, or other masculine notables, it is understood that a crowd will be there and a jolly evening is looked forward to.

Mrs. F. H. Manker read an interesting letter from Miss Kathleen Leahy, of Lihue, Kauai, who has made a trip this summer to the volcano on Kilauea Mountain, and was fortunate enough to see it in eruption. There had been nothing doing since last February, but the volcano obligingly started up for the benefit of the visitors in July, and did it self "proud."

The luncheon was served by members of the Upland Woman's Club and was most delicious. Baskets of asters and other autumn flowers decorated the tables, and at each cover was a spray of lavender tied with lavender-colored ribbon, the gift of Mrs. G. Thudium to everyone present. There were about forty members present, and one guest, Mrs. Fred McMullen.

The San Gabriel Dam, which will be America's largest dam when completed, will cost $25,000,000. It will be the first in a program of twelve which the county of Los Angeles will erect to prevent floods and conserve the water in that region.

Since the beginning of the year there have been forty-one thousand and criminal cases involving the violation of the prohibition law. Thirty-five thousand of these have been convicted.

OFFICIAL RETURNS OF ELECTION IS ANNOUNCED BY SUPERVISORS

OFFICIAL AUDIT MAKES LITTLE CHANGE IN COUNT

Congressman Swing and Attorney Charles L. Allison Have Slight Increase of Vote Over the Unofficial Count.

Officials returns of the August primaries, compiled Saturday by the Board of Supervisors, varied but slightly from the unofficial results gathered a few hours after the polls closed.

Returns from the outlying districts and from the absent voters' balloting, however, served to increase the majorities of the successful candidates in the three principal races—for Congress, judge and supervisor. The late returns swelled Attorney Charles L. Allison's majority over both Superior Judge Jesse Olney and Attorney John L. Campbell to 1,179. Allison led Olney by 2,228 votes.

Swing Receives 6899 Majority San Bernardino County gave its native son, Congressman Phil D. Swing, a majority of 6899 votes over State Senator Ed. P. Sample, of San Diego for the Republican congressional nomination. Congressman Swing not only overwhelmingly swept the county on the Republican ticket, but defeated Ex-Congressman William Kettner, a Democrat, for the Democratic nomination, the vote being: Swing 761; Kettner, 575. Both were "write in" candidates. Congressman Swing also was the favorite among the prohibitionists, receiving the nomination of that party by a vote of 120 to Sample's 13 votes.

Kendall Returned to Office Chairman A. G. Kendall, of the Board of Supervisors and county purchasing agent, was returned to office with a majority of 785 votes over James Russell and E. M. "Ted" Cooley, his opponents.

Assemblyman Isaac Jones, of Ontario, won the Republican nomination in the fifty-seventh district, defeating Elmer L. Howell of Chino by a vote of 3,430 to 2,118. Assemblyman Jones also won the nomination in the prohibition party, 71 to 47.

Michael Firebaugh, of San Bernardino, was unopposed for the Democratic nomination for Assembly in the fifty-seventh district. He polled 1374 votes. Mayor Brock Beats Mrs. Sues Mayor A. E. Brock of Redlands defeated Mrs. N. Sues for the Republican and Prohibition nominations for assemblyman of the fifty-eighth district. He received 2,235 votes against 1,723 for Mrs. Sues.

San Bernardino County gave Associate Justice J. W. Curtis, of the California Appellate court a vote of 11,752 votes. Judge Curtis, formerly judge of the superior court in the county, was unopposed for election.

Superior Judge Benjamin F. Warner, of Department Two, and unopposed, received 11,306 votes.

Biggin and Crain Re-elected Supervisor Geo. S. Biggin of the third supervisorial district, defeated Albert F. Zimmerman by a vote of 1922 to 1258. Supervisor C. S. Crain, of the first district, was unopposed. He received 1,008 votes.

BEULAH COLLEGE NOTES

After a long silence the voice of Beulah College is again heard through the columns of The News.

A number of students have already arrived, and others are coming this week. The outlook for the school is very good.

Mrs. Eva Musser and two daughters from Chicago, Ill., arrived September 8, on the Golden State Limited. The two girls will be academy freshmen.

Miss Alma Cassel, Brookville, Ohio, arrived Sept. 5, accompanied by Miss H. Gramm. The former will teach the advanced Bible classes, while the latter will take work in the academy.

Elder Harvey Frey, returned missionary from Africa, arrived on Friday, accompanied by his wife and three children. Rev. Frey is of the opinion that Beulah College is a safe place for his children.

One of the most important events in connection with the School was the marriage of the Dean, P. J. Wiebe, to Miss Lillian Baker, Stayner, Ontario, on August 27. They arrived home over the Union Pacific Sept. 3. Saturday night, Sept. 6, a reception was given in their honor in the dining room of the School. After the reception all repaired to the ladies' dormitory, where a large number of friends had gathered to welcome the Dean and his bride. Many useful and beautiful presents were given, after which the bride cut the wedding cake which she had brought from home, and each guest was given a small piece. We are glad to welcome Mrs. Wiebe in our midst, and trust that she and the Dean may have many happy years of wedded life.

The first chapel service was held this morning at 9:30 a.m.

HAWAIIAN SUGAR IS RECOMMENDED AS ENERGY GIVER

Mrs. Housewife, do you want to vacuum every room in the house soon, wash all the windows and polish up your home generally and are only prevented from doing so because you don't think you'll have the energy?

Well, the Department of Agriculture has come to your rescue. It recommends a guaranteed energy-giver—one that never fails and keeps fatigue away for a long time.

The Department's prescription contains three words: Hawaiian Cane Sugar. Simple, what? And this common household necessity has been found by the experiment station of the department to keep away fatigue to an overwhelmingly greater degree than all the medicine that has ever been concocted.

So, if you have a big household task before you, just put an extra spoonful of Hawaiian cane sugar in your coffee for a few mornings and you'll be bubbling over with pep.

George M. Rolph, general manager of the California and Hawaiian Sugar Refinery Corporation of San Francisco, recently stated that in the outfitting of polar expeditions Hawaiian cane sugar is now given a most important place.

He recently got word from a physician friend who examined the contestants in the last Olympic Games marathon in Paris that the M. D. advised the runners to carry lime drops or other convenient form of sweets during the race in order to generate additional energy and endurance.

That millions of Americans have evidently realized that sugar is a real pep-giver is seen in Rolph's statement that the California and Hawaiian plant at Crockett has an annual melting capacity of 640,000 tons of raw Hawaiian cane sugar. This plant, incidentally, is the largest in the world.

SAYS CALIFORNIA IS IN BAD WAY

FLORIDA MAN WAS OUT HERE AND TAKES HOME THE USUAL KNOCK

A Florida orange grower who has been visiting out here has gone home and told home folks that California is all up and down because of the short rainfall; that we all have the hoof and mouth disease and that except for the tourist business we are pretty much going to the demitison bow-wow. He writes to the Tampa Tribune as follows:

BARTOW, Aug. 13.—"Oranges will be worth money this year and my suggestion to my fellow citrus growers of Florida is to be in no hurry to market their fruit," said A. B. Conner, of this city, who returned today from a trip which took him through the citrus belt of California and gave him an opportunity to study existing conditions in that section of the country.

"The California crop threatens to be the smallest in years, as to quantity, and the worst ever as to quality, because not only of the protracted drought which has prevailed this summer, but also because of the small snowfall in the mountains of Southern California last winter, which has made it impossible to secure enough water for irrigation purposes during the growing season.

"I am not gloating over the situation as I found it in California. I am simply stating facts as revealed to me by personal observation covering the greater part of the citrus growing section of the state and talks had with many growers from those sections of the citrus belt not visited in person.

"In countless groves the foliage has turned yellow because of lack of sufficient moisture, and while the trees seem well laden with fruit, it is small and dry. Numerous growers told me that they didn't expect to have a box of oranges larger than the 300 size because of the stunting caused by lack of rain or irrigation. Olive and walnut growers are also complaining of threatened short crops because of moisture conditions.

"Coming as it does soon after the ravages of the hoof and mouth disease and the drop in the prices of crude oil, the orange and walnut shortage will cause California to be hard hit for the moment at least, though tourist travel continues to bring vast sums of money into the tills of the hotel and restaurant keepers and the merchants dealing in supplies.

"While I enjoyed the trip, I am glad to be back in Florida, where the weather is delightful and where there is no shortage of water which makes impossible the upkeep of lawns and flower beds in the cities as well as citrus and walnut groves in the country district, and compels the shutting down of electric plants at mid-night in order to conserve the little water trickling down from the mountains.

"The only point I am making in discussing the California situation is that there will be a woeful shortage of California oranges during the coming marketing season and to suggest to my fellow citrus growers in Florida that

"MIRACLE MAN'S" TRIAL IS DELAYED

Because of a conflict in dates, the trial of Armando Dominguez, the "miracle man of China," whose asserted cures of the feeble and the ill has caused him trouble in the court frequently, was yesterday continued indefinitely.

Dominguez, charged with practicing a mode of healing without a license from the State Medical Board, was arrested several weeks ago. Specifically, he is charged with treating a sick baby, which died after physicians had been called and declared that the child was suffering from pneumonia and had been administered improper medicines.

Dominguez won a wide reputation as a "miracle man" among the Mexican residents of China. Twice in the courts he was acquitted.

The Sibylline books were a set of oracular writings which contained the history of the Roman State. They were burned in 404 and 408 A.D. "An air of mystery has surrounded them because they were only consulted by members of the senate on special occasions, and whether they contained directions received from the gods or only predictions will always be a matter of conjecture.

they put themselves in position to secure the good prices which they are sure to get if they pick, pack and ship the right kind of fruit at the right time."

DUNLAP TO SPEND LIFE BEHIND BARS

Harry J. Dunlap, notorious "badge bandit," was yesterday sentenced to "two natural life terms" and 214 years imprisonment in Folsom penitentiary.

Standing motionless before Judge Charles Crail, Dunlap, with a terrible scowl crossing his crime-hardened features, heard pronounced the words that will keep him behind prison bars the rest of his days. "They must think I am some kind of a cat," Dunlap hurled at the court, after the sentence was pronounced.

Betraying his emotions solely through a lip curled in scorn, the "badge bandit," found guilty of attacks on women, assaults with intent to kill, a series of robberies throughout the state, and suspected of more than one slaying, listened to the judge deliver one of the most thorough tongue-lashings ever pronounced in Los Angeles courts.

Judge Lashlee Sandit "You are the most debased character and most experienced and steeped in crime of any man who has ever stood before me for sentence," Judge Crail said. "Your unspeakable exploits are as foul and dastardly as the deeds of any buccanier that ever sailed the Spanish Main.

"Your testimony on the witness stand shows that you prefer a life of crime to a normal life. Your story of how you escaped from two penitentiaries and your subsequent career of robbery, assault and bootlegging convinces me that you are a habitual criminal and should certainly be confined in prison as long as you live. You will be better off there, where you are not likely to be shot, and your imprisonment certainly removes a serious menace to the community.

"Have you anything to say before you are sentenced?" the court queried.

"Naw, not a word," Dunlap replied, flashing his full set of gold teeth in a snarl.

New Trial Is Denied

"I sentence you to life imprisonment for the robbery of Edgar Milburn," the judge continued. "Your other sentences are: Life imprisonment for the robbery of W. P. Leroux, 50 years for the rape of Helen Griffith, 50 years for the robbery of James Wilson, 50 years for the robbery of Jack Branscomb, and 64 years for the robbery and assault of Ray Durkee."

Immediately after the sentence, Dunlap's attorney, M. H. Golden, made a motion for a new trial, which was denied. The courtroom was packed with a tense throng. Once Dunlap made a move toward his hip pocket and seven deputy sheriffs started to grab him. He laughed sardonically as he pulled out a handkerchief and blew his nose.

Captured After Long Hunt

Dunlap was captured in Detroit some months ago, ending a long nationwide hunt which followed a series of crimes throughout Southern California last winter with which he was credited.

At least three murders were laid to the "badge bandit," but the prosecution dropped these cases because of insufficient evidence.

In 1923 the wheat output of this country was 781,737,000 bushels, while in 1850 it was only 100,000 bushels. The greatest production of 967,979,000 bushels occurred in 1919, due to the pressure of war.

MAPS SENT BY AIR

Demands in the east for Southern California touring information are becoming so keen that the aeroplane mail service is being used by prospective touring parties. An auto party from Bloomington, Illinois, initiated the aeroplane mail delivery and the touring bureau of the Automobile Club of Southern California sent a complete set of maps covering the National Old Trails route by return aeroplane, so that the tourist could leave for Los Angeles without delay.

Although hundreds of telegraphic inquiries are received by the auto club, it is not possible to send maps by wire. Hence, the aeroplane mail service will be of material aid to those wishing rush information for their trip to Southern California.

THE MADDEST ONE

A passenger took the train at Lyons, entered a sleeper, and tipped the guard liberally to put him out of the train at Dijon.

"I'm a very heavy sleeper," he said, "and you must take no notice of my protests. Seize me and put me out on the platform." He slept. He awoke as the train steamed into Paris. In a raging fury he went to the guard and expressed some emphatic opinions in a varied vocabulary. "Ah," said the guard, calmly, "you have a bit of a temper, but it's nothing compared with the chap I put out of the train at Dijon!"—Le Rire (Paris).

SAFEGUARDING YOUR CONTRACT

The prospective homebuilder should not attempt to build before he has entered into a written agreement with his contractor, which should set out fully the obligations of each party.

The contract price, the manner of making the payments to the contractor, the time limit allowed for completion and provisions for changes and alterations in the building should be clearly stated, so that there can be no misunderstanding in any of the essential details.

Oral agreements are dangerous, for they are easily repudiated, and almost impossible to prove, and are, therefore, difficult to enforce.

Plans and specifications of the proposed building should be made a part of the written contract by referring to them in the contract; otherwise, they are no part of the contract, and the owner cannot hold the contractor to their terms.

It is also a good practice to record the building contract at the office of the County Recorder.

This is not absolutely necessary, but the law gives the general contractor sixty days and material men and laborers thirty days in which to file mechanics' liens, after a notice of completion of the building is recorded.

By recording the contract, the name of the general contractor is legally established and the bank or loan company advancing the money for the construction of the building will be willing to pay out the full amount of the loan thirty-five days after the notice of completion has been filed, provided the general contractor executes a written release of all claims against the building.

Thirty-five days cuts off everybody but the general contractor and the bank or loan company is safe in advancing the balance of any money due upon the strength of the contractor's release. If the contract is not recorded, the bank or loan company will generally hold the final payments on the loan for a full 60 days, in order to be sure that no one claiming to be a general contractor will file a lien within the sixty days allowed by law.

CUTTING OUT THE BUILDING 'EXTRAS'

If you want to make your home building dollars count, if you want full value for your money, then heed the advice of those who know, and first determine upon what you want in your home, what it will cost and then stick to it. Don't make changes.

Every architect and contractor knows from experience that one reason why building expense runs higher than estimates is due to changes.

Give the architect sufficient time to prepare complete plans and specifications. Remember that the architect must first build your home on paper before the contractor can estimate upon or build from the architect's plans and specifications.

Insist on complete, definite proposals based on the complete house, including plumbing, heating and electrical work.

To the sum total of these add for such incidentals as are not usually included, such as lighting fixtures, decorating, shades, draperies, furniture, rugs, grading, walks, drives, planting, etc., in order to get your total costs before you start your building operation.

With the advice and the assistance of your architect, invite only those contractors who are competent and honest to submit proposals, and who have demonstrated their ability to build the kind of house you have in mind.

If you hand pick your contractors before you take estimates, you are safe in awarding contracts to the lowest bidders--those really entitled to the work.

Having signed contracts with the various contractors, give no orders or directions to them.

All these must be transmitted through the architect, who, as executive in charge of the work, will know at once whether such suggestions involve extra work and material, and thus you will be fully advised and can avoid an "extra" if you choose.

In this article it is pointed out the relationship between the home builder, the contractor and the architect, and how by co-operation between these three factors in every home building operation, costs can be lessened and "extras" avoided.

PLAN HIGHWAY TO THE TOP OF BALDY

Project for a new scenic highway that would become one of the most famous in the west and to be paid for by private capital was yesterday laid before the Board of Supervisors by O. L. Grimsley when he requested a franchise for a toll road to the summit of Mt. San Antonio, or Old Baldy.

The highway would be constructed from Manker Flats, a short distance above Camp Baldy, to the crest of the peak, which has an altitude of 10,080 feet.

The supervisors took under advisement the application for a franchise until they can make a thorough investigation of the project.

Would Cost Over $150,000

The road would cost between $150,000 and $200,000, according to Mr. Grimsley, and the grade would not exceed 14 per cent at any point. According to Mr. Grimsley, the forestry service will build the road from Camp Baldy to Manker Flats provided the toll road is constructed.

The rise from the floor of the valley to the summit of Mt. San Antonio would be greater than the climb up Pike's Peak.

The survey for the proposed toll road has been completed.

Traffic Officers Amendment

An amendment to the county charter providing for county instead of state supervision of the traffic officers was ordered prepared for the November election. Under present arrangement traffic officers are under state supervision but the salaries and expenses of the department are paid out of the county's share of state automobile money. The supervisors believe the county's interests would be best served if there was a provision by which the county could, if it was so desired, take over the direct control of its traffic department.

Harper Lake Improvement Association, in a letter signed by H. F. Spenser, president, and H. J. Ritz, secretary, expressed appreciation for the opening of a road on the desert that shortens the route to Victorville and San Bernardino by ten miles. The association praised Supervisor C. S. Crain for his co-operation with the community.

Brief Notes of Meeting

Map of Camp Fontenella was abandoned in order to make road changes in a new subdivision.

Canvass of the vote of the Os-dick school district election showed school bonds in the amount of $3,000 had carried without a dissenting vote with 41 persons voting.

Permit was issued to D. H. Middleton to construct a six-inch pipe line across Victoria Avenue and a four-inch line along Victoria Avenue between Tippecanoe and Mountain View Avenues.

Map of tract No. 1576 at Fawn-skin, owned by Clinton E. Miller, and map of Lynnwood Park, Big Bear Lake, were approved.

WASHER WILSON

Comes to Upland

NEXT MONDAY SEPTEMBER 15th

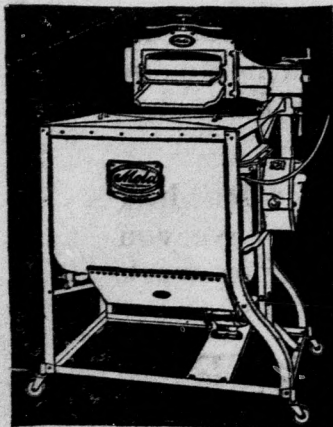

we will officially open our direct branch store at 260 Second Ave.

During the past ten months we have made many friends in Upland and have served them through our agency in the Mehl Hardware Store. We are now ready to serve you direct. You can take advantage of our immense buying power--we operate over 300 stores and agencies in six different Pacific Coast States.

We buy our exclusive line of electrical merchandise direct from the factory and eliminate, for your benefit, the costly profits claimed by the wholesaler or middleman, which you must pay when buying from the ordinary store that handle washing machines, etc., as a side line. WE SPECIALIZE!!

You can now buy any Washer here at terms of your own choice, and NO INTEREST for the first year.

The Mola Washer

The Mola Washer is an eight-sheet capacity cylinder type machine with angle steel frame. Supplied with either copper or Armco tubs and aluminum or Armco cylinders. It is famous for its large gas burner for heating water. This means no lifting of water. Run cold water into the machine with the ordinary garden hose, heat the water and wash, then drain the machine with the hose. This machine requires absolutely no oiling—it is greased once each year—that's all. It has no dangerous moving parts, has a full swinging and reversible aluminum wringer. Indorsed by Good-Housekeeping Magazine.

15 different models.

ONTARIO

To Pilgrimage Play

Thursday evening is to be Ontario Night at the Pilgrimage Play, Hollywood, it was announced yesterday. Stages are to transport West End people directly to the natural amphitheatre and will be waiting to return them to this city at the close of the famous pageant.

The plan is being sponsored by the Ontario Ministerial Union, under the leadership of the Rev. W. Earle Smith, pastor of the First Baptist church, and president of the Union.

Tickets for the Ontario night event are now on sale at the Ontario Chamber of Commerce.

Bible Chautauqua Closes

After ten weeks of continuous services, the "canvass cathedral" at Commercial Court and Laurel avenue, which has housed the Bible Chautauqua, was dismantled yesterday.

According to Prof. L. A. Wilcox, who has been in charge of the lectures here, the organization has been invited to spend some time in Upland, repeating its messages there, but no decision in the matter has as yet been reached.

At the final meeting Sunday evening, the program included talks by Prof. Wilcox, father, Pastor M. C. Wilcox, who for 25 years has been the editor of a missionary paper; Mrs. M. Edwards, who has been in charge of the health work of the chautauqua; H. A. Renfro, official librarian; Miss A. Jenkins, leader of the women's Bible school; Miss K. B. Wilcox, children's teacher; and Mrs. M. C. Wilcox, in charge of the parents' department.

Dr. Babienko of Los Angeles, formerly of Russia, was also on the program, entertaining the audience with a number of whistling selections, imitating the birds of his home land and of California.

Hunters Searched

Pieces of doves, instead of doves of peace were the quest of Los Angeles county officers Saturday and Sunday, who stopped all automobiles entering the county on the Valley and Foothill boulevards.

With the opening of the dove season, a large number of persons have been invading this county and although the law fixes the number of doves which may be taken in one day at 15 and 30 the limit for one week, it is said that the law is frequently disregarded.

There have been so many violations of the law that it has been deemed necessary by the game warden to station motorcycle officers at the county line to search all automobiles.

SEC. DON PALMER GIVES HIS REPORT

President Merton E. Hill and Secretary Don Palmer returned the forepart of the week from Santa Cruz where they attended a conference of Presidents and Secretaries of the Rotary Clubs of the Second District of which Harry Mason of Los Angeles is secretary. Secretary Palmer gave a brief review of the program at today's luncheon which was largely attended.

Chas. V. Barr gave the Rotary talk, F. H. Manker gave a brief talk on Rotary education and Mayor A. H. Johnson gave the craft talk telling of his earlier years when he tackled many trades and finally gave them up for his grocery business. Mayor Johnson stated that since the organization of the firm Johnson & Brown in Upland some eighteen years ago, one hundred different grocery firms have come and many of them gone. Mayor Johnson was born in Connecticut, but came from North Dakota to Upland.

Dr. A. L. Weber who leaves soon on an eastern trip and John D. Howe who is one of the forty American Legion delegates to the national convention at St. Paul told of their plans for their trips.

If that cannot be done which on wish, wish what can be done.

WASHER WILSON LOCATES HERE

Realizing the growth of Upland and that their store in Ontario could not supply this district as well as the southern part of the valley, Washer Wilson representatives have decided to open a branch in Upland, and on Monday will have their official opening in the north half of the building occupied by the Upland Realty and Insurance Company on Second Avenue.

R. H. Floyd will be in charge of the branch here and besides washing machines, which the company specializes in, there will be all sorts of electrical appliances, anything, in fact, that can be run by the great modern motive power. This store is one of 300 agencies established throughout the six southwest states, and that the Washer Wilson Company should make this the 301 speaks well for the growth of Upland, which is evidently attracting the attention of out-of-town business men.

The palm is not gained without the dust of labor.
